Listed private equity

How to find attractive opportunities in the current investment environment?

Listed private equity is probably the easiest way for a private investor to invest in private equity. Traditionally, private equity investments were only open to selected investors who controlled a certain investment volume and who met the legal and organisational criteria.

Last year, Listed Private Equity generated a return of over 45 percent. But Listed Private Equity wasn't spared from the corona crash either. Is it a good time to invest now? What are the current value drivers? How to find attractive investment opportunities?

This SECA webinar, offered in cooperation with LPX, provides insights into this asset class.
